Manager Voyage. The launch plan.

The program, its learning objectives and what success looks like, then the learner journeys, the communications cascade, enrollment, the Microsoft Teams channel, the assessment data setup, delivery and measurement for bringing every Vanderbilt manager onto one standard. Draft messages and posts included, with dates.

PEOPLE, CULTURE AND BELONGING | FUTURES LEARNING HUB | LAUNCH DECEMBER 1, 2026 | COHORT 1 JANUARY 18, 2027

DRAFT FOR REVIEW · NOVEMBER 6, 2026 · DATES MOVE TOGETHER WITH THE LAUNCH DATE

THE PLAN ON ONE PAGE

Rehearsal and cascade in November. Launch on December 1. Cohort 1 on January 18.

Manager Voyage gives every manager at Vanderbilt the same standard, the same first ninety days and the same help. The launch follows the manager's own journey: nobody hears about it from a system before they hear about it from their own manager.

PHASE 0

Ready

NOV 6 TO NOV 18, 2026

QA feedback closes Nov 13. Course fixes land. Oracle items, the dashboard, the SCORM launcher, the Teams team and the assessment flows tested by Nov 18. Drafts final Nov 16.

PHASE 1

Rehearsal

NOV 16 TO NOV 25, 2026

The November 5 review group and ten more managers from DAR, Facilities, VBOM, USAC, Campus Dining and VUIT take the first thirty days in eight days. Readout Nov 24. Launch go Nov 25.

PHASE 2

Cascade

NOV 16 TO NOV 30, 2026

Leadership brief Nov 16, business unit leader briefings Nov 18, HCMs and ECs Nov 19, the toolkit for managers' managers Nov 20, Portal and Teams open with the teaser Nov 24.

PHASE 3

Launch

DEC 1, 2026 TO FEB 1, 2027

Launch email to every manager. Oracle assignments open. Day 1 automation on for new managers. Nudges at day 7, 22 and 60, the day 22 one ahead of the winter break. Cohort 2 invitations from Feb 1.

PHASE 4

Deliver and measure

JAN 2027 ONWARD

Cohort 1 Jan 18 to Feb 8. Re-up assessment three months after each completion. Ninety day readout Mar 11. Quarterly dashboard to leadership.

4

Components

Compliance by location, Manager Foundations, the four-week cohort, the Manager Portal. One standard runs through all four.

90

Days, day one to the re-up

Legal courses by day 30. Policy courses, Foundations and the phase one micro modules by day 60. Cohort invitation at 60 days in good standing.

7

Modules in Foundations

About 90 minutes in all, 10 to 20 minutes each, in as many sittings as the manager likes. The essentials in 35.

25

Managers per cohort, each quarter

Bespoke cohorts for large units such as DAR. Fifty managers a year through the room and the two virtual weeks, growing with facilitator capacity.

WHAT WE ARE LAUNCHING

Four components. One standard.

The Vanderbilt Manager Standard is adapted from Gary Yukl's research on what effective managers do: four expectations, measured by the assessment, taught by the course, practiced in the cohort, and kept alive by the Portal.

01 · GET THE WORK DONE
Through your team. Priorities with owners, clear expectations, work checked before it is due.

02 · TAKE CARE OF YOUR PEOPLE
Support under pressure, thanks by name, decisions shaped by the team.

03 · MAKE THINGS BETTER
The why in your own words before the announcement. A look-back after big work.

04 · CONNECT YOUR TEAM
To the rest of Vanderbilt. Hear what is coming first. Show the hours, offer two options.

COMPONENT 01

Compliance, by location

The legal and policy courses for Tennessee, New York, Florida and California, supervisor versions included. Auto-assigned in Oracle Learning by the manager's work location. Legal by day 30, policy by day 60.

REQUIRED

COMPONENT 02

Manager Foundations

The assessment, then the course You Are a Manager Now on the web: seven modules, narrated, with live practice conversations in the manager's own world, Compass the course guide, and a quick check. Then the micro modules in Oracle Learning: Systems and Vanderbilt in days 1 to 30, People and Processes in days 31 to 60.

STRONGLY ENCOURAGED, TRACKED

COMPONENT 03

The four-week cohort

Where skill is built. A half day in the room, two virtual weeks under ninety minutes, a two-hour capstone. SparkWise learning labs, voice simulations with Sam, Dev, Priya and Marcus, and the Manager Playbook presented to the business unit leader.

BY INVITATION, 25 A QUARTER

COMPONENT 04

The Manager Portal

Every template, framework, policy link and contact from the course and the cohort, open from day one and never taken away. Who to call, same-day routes, and the My Voyage dashboard that shows each manager where they stand.

ALWAYS ON

Sources: Manager Voyage Executive Brief v2 (September 2026), the program data in the Manager Voyage site, and the responsibilities discussion of November 5, 2026. Cohort size follows the November 5 decision of twenty five managers a quarter.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Why Manager Voyage, what it is, and what it promises.

THE PROBLEM

A thin manager bench

Internal fill rates for manager roles sit well below the benchmark People, Culture and Belonging uses, because too few staff are ready to step up. Most managers at Vanderbilt were never trained to manage: they were promoted for being good at the work, then left to approve time off for former peers on day one with no guidance. The cost shows up as slow hiring, early mistakes with leave and conduct, and teams that leave with a bad manager.

THE ANSWER

One standard, taught and practiced

The Vanderbilt Manager Standard: four expectations every manager works to, adapted from Gary Yukl's research on what effective managers do. Every manager gets the same first ninety days, compliance by location, a ninety-minute Foundations course with live practice, short modules on the systems and processes they now own, and a dashboard. After sixty days, a four-week cohort builds the skill with their own team. The Portal never goes away.

THE PROMISE

What a manager can say at ninety days

"I know what Vanderbilt expects of me, in four sentences. I have had the hard conversations out loud before I had them for real. I know who to call the same day, and what is mine to handle. My team knows what I expect of them, by when, and why. And I know which habit I am working on next, because I measured it."

HOW IT WORKS, FROM INPUTS TO IMPACT

INPUTS

What we put in

The standard and the assessment. The course, the micro modules, the cohort, the Portal. FLH facilitators, Oracle Learning, Teams, the characters. Managers' managers' time.

ACTIVITIES

What managers do

Take the assessment. Finish Foundations and the phase one modules in ninety days. Practice the four conversations. Sit a cohort. Present a Playbook. Rate the ten statements again.

OUTPUTS

What we can count

Completions and quick check scores. Scored conversations. Compliance on time. Cohort seats filled, Playbooks presented. Assessment baselines and re-ups.

OUTCOMES

What changes in a year

Habits move on the ten statements. Teams get priorities with owners, feedback the week it happened, and the why before the announcement. Problems reach the HCM, the leave office and EOA the same day.

IMPACT

What changes in three

More manager roles filled from inside. More staff promoted into their first manager role, and more of them still here a year later. Faster hiring, fewer early mistakes, teams that stay.

WHO

Every manager, M1 to M5, in Tennessee, New York, Florida and California, new or long tenured. Their managers and HCMs as reinforcers.

OWNER

People, Culture and Belonging, built and run by the Futures Learning Hub, with VUIT for Oracle and Teams and the business units for the cascade and the cohorts.

SOURCE

The Manager Voyage Executive Brief v2, September 2026; the Vanderbilt Manager Standard; the November 5, 2026 responsibilities discussion. Objectives next; the success scorecard follows measurement.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES AND OUTCOMES

By the end, every manager can.

Each objective names the expectation it serves: 01 get the work done, 02 take care of your people, 03 make things better, 04 connect your team.

MANAGER FOUNDATIONS · SEVEN MODULES, 90 MINUTES

Know the job, and have said the hard things out loud

- 01 Explain the shift from doing the work to getting it done through others, and state the four expectations with one behavior each asks for in a normal week.
- 01 02 Apply the five ideas, priorities with owners, clear expectations, psychological safety, purpose and the people work, in a conversation with a team member.
- 02 04 Decide who handles what: handle it, ask the HCM, the leave office, or EOA, and name the same-day routes.
- 01 TO 04 Hold four conversations out loud: the Monday one to one, feedback on a draft, bad news, and a change announcement.
- ALL Read their assessment, name the priority expectation, and pick one habit for the week.

HOW WE KNOW Thirteen activities marked done. The quick check at four of five. Each live conversation scored by the character on what the manager did, three or more checks of four.

MICRO MODULES · FOUR TRACKS IN ORACLE LEARNING

Run the systems and the obligations of the role

- SYSTEMS, BY DAY 30 Manage timekeeping, PTO and schedules in UKG, handle exempt time off in Oracle, open a requisition, and approve an expense.
- VANDERBILT, BY DAY 30 Explain the mission, place their unit in the areas of focus, and tell the Nashville story to a new hire.
- PEOPLE, BY DAY 60 Recognize a leave request, route an accommodation, document a concern, and onboard a new hire.
- PROCESSES, BY DAY 60 Run the performance cycle in the performance platform, set goals, hold one to ones, give feedback, and handle a compensation or flexible work question.

HOW WE KNOW Completion by item in Oracle Learning. Phase one by day 30, phase two by day 60. Fewer same-day questions to HCMs on the routine transactions, asked in the Day 60 survey.

THE FOUR-WEEK COHORT · 25 A QUARTER

Manage their own team, on purpose, with a plan

- 03 Write a manager philosophy and say what the team can expect from them, and what they say when bad news lands.
- 01 Run a one to one framework with a cadence, an agenda that belongs to the team member, and three goals per person this quarter.
- 02 Delegate a real decision with one boundary and a date, and write a growth line for every person.
- 01 02 Hold a performance conversation that is honest about the answer and specific about what would change it.
- 04 Present the Manager Playbook, the Integrated Management Model and a ninety-day Team Development Plan to their business unit leader.

HOW WE KNOW Four simulations scored. The Playbook presented and challenged by peers. The four-question confidence pulse up from week one to week four. The re-up assessment three months on.

OUTCOMES OVER TIME

30 days

Legal compliance done, assessment taken, the course under way, the Systems and Vanderbilt modules done.

60 days

Foundations complete in Oracle, the People and Processes modules done, the cohort invitation in hand.

90 days

The habit moved on the ten statements. A cohort seat booked. Same-day matters reaching the right office.

1 year

A Playbook in use, a team with goals and one to ones, a manager ready to be promoted and a successor in view.

WHO IT IS FOR

Three managers, two reinforcers, one message.

The audience is everyone who manages people at Vanderbilt: new to the university, promoted into the M track, or long tenured and never trained. The journey is the same. The way they first hear about it is not.

LEARNER A

The brand-new manager

Who. Hired or promoted into a manager role on or after launch. Day 1 is the day the assignment starts in Oracle HCM.

How they hear. Their own manager, in the first week, then the automated Day 1 email with the dashboard link.

What is different. The deadlines are real from day one. The protected time ask goes to their manager the same day.

Risk. Buried under the new job. Mitigated by the Day 7 nudge and the manager's manager check-in at day 14.

LEARNER B

The experienced manager, never trained

Who. Every current manager at launch, M1 to M5, whatever their tenure. The launch wave.

How they hear. The cascade: their business unit leader, then their own manager, then the launch email from PCB leadership on December 1.

What is different. Compliance is already current for most; the work is Foundations and the phase one micro modules. The essentials in 35 minutes; the whole course in about 90.

Risk. "I have done this for years." Mitigated by the assessment first, which shows where the habits sit, and by the cohort as the reward.

LEARNER C

The line manager moving into the M track

Who. A supervisor or lead who now approves time off for former peers, in Dining, Facilities, VUIT or a business office.

How they hear. Their HCM at the moment of the job change, plus the Day 1 email.

What is different. The practice conversations in their own world matter most: Campus Dining, VUIT, Facilities, Student Affairs, Academic Affairs, DAR or a business office.

Risk. Desk time is scarce on a floor or a route. Mitigated by the phone-friendly course and the no-microphone path.

REINFORCER

The manager's manager

The single biggest lever. They tell their managers it is coming, carve out two to three hours of protected time in the first two weeks, ask about the assessment in a 1:1, and hear the Playbook at the capstone. They get a toolkit on November 20 and one automated note per new manager.

REINFORCER

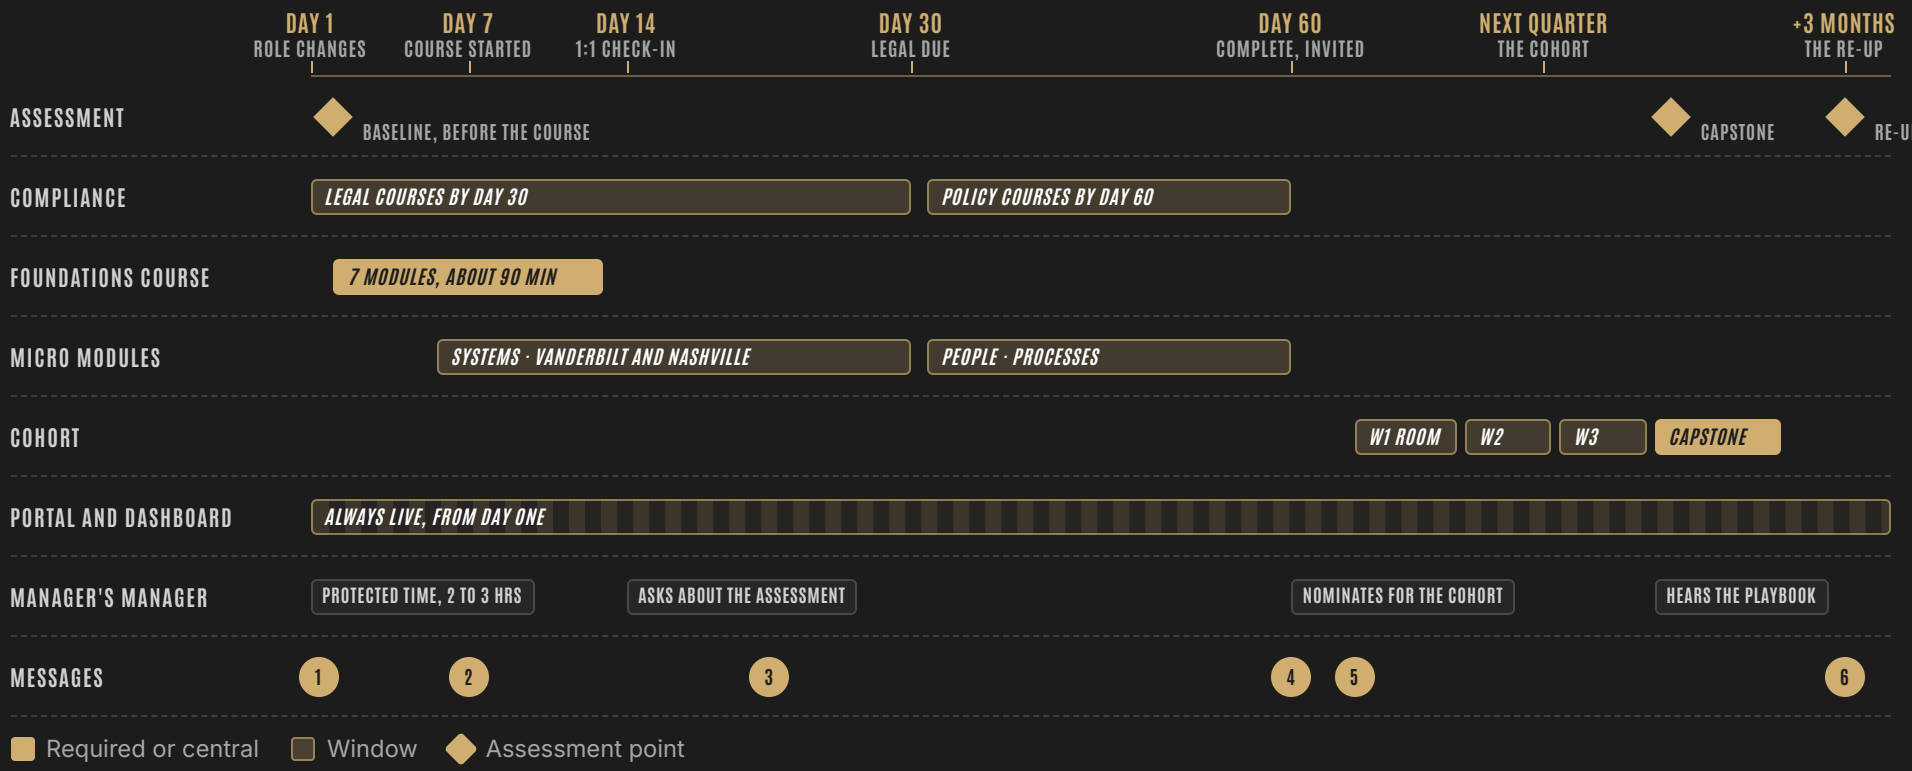

HCMs and Engagement Consultants

They see every job change first and answer the same-day questions. They are briefed on November 19, carry the one-line pitch and the dashboard link, and route a manager who is stuck. They are not the ones who have the conversation; the course is clear that the people work is the manager's work.

THE LEARNER JOURNEY

Day one to ninety, and every touchpoint on the way.

What a manager does, and what reaches them, from the day the role changes to the re-up. The numbered messages are drafted on pages 13 to 18; the Teams posts on page 20.

BY DAY 30

Legal, seen, started

Legal courses done. The assessment taken and the results email kept. The course begun, with the manager's manager having asked about it once.

BY DAY 60

Complete, invited

Policy courses, Foundations and the Systems and Vanderbilt modules done. Completion in Oracle. The cohort invitation in hand, the People and Processes modules open.

BY DAY 90

Practiced, measured

The cohort, when a seat comes. The ten statements rated again at three months, beside the baseline. The Portal in weekly use.

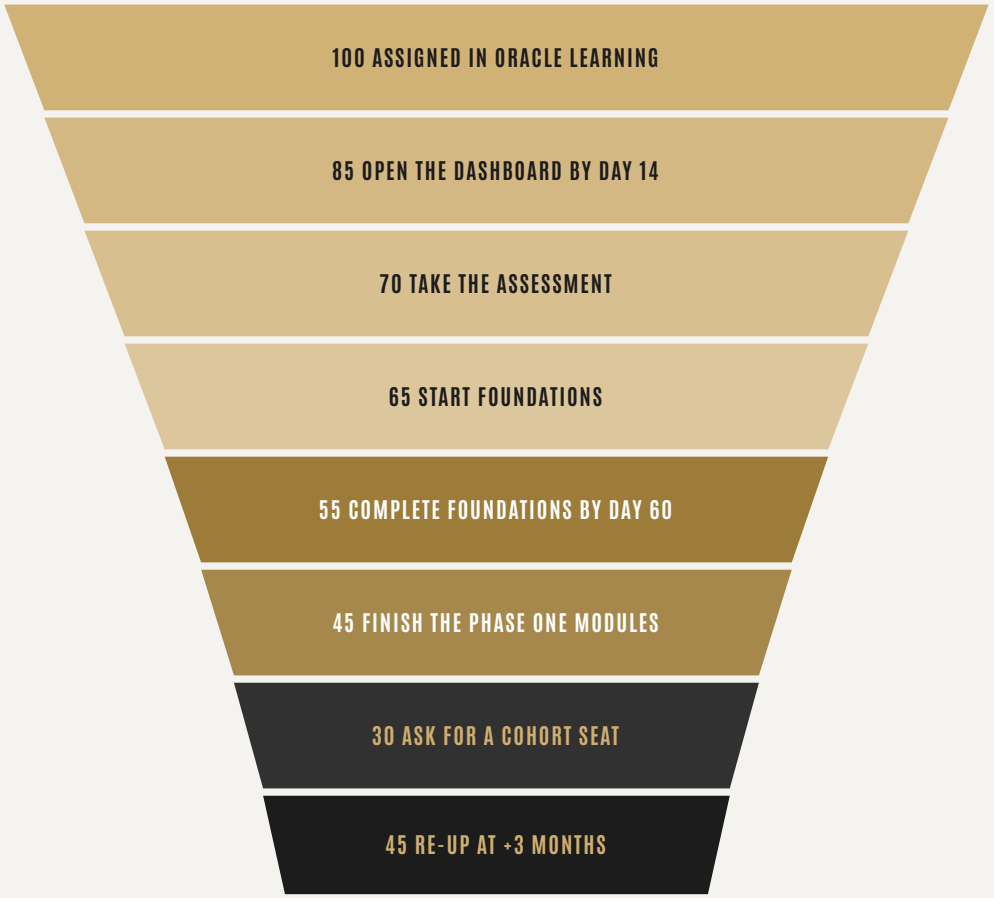

THE LEARNER JOURNEY, STAGE BY STAGE

What the manager does, feels and needs at each step.

THE ENROLLMENT FUNNEL

Of every hundred managers in the launch wave, by day ninety.

TWO LANES, READ TOGETHER

Required. Compliance runs beside the funnel, not inside it: the target is 100 of 100 legal courses by day 30 and policy courses by day 60, as today. Oracle enforces it; the launch adds the dashboard so a manager sees it in one place.

Encouraged, tracked. Foundations, the micro modules and the cohort are the funnel above. The numbers are targets for the launch wave in its first ninety days, proposed for sign-off on November 25, and reset from the rehearsal's actual conversion.

WHERE EACH NUMBER COMES FROM

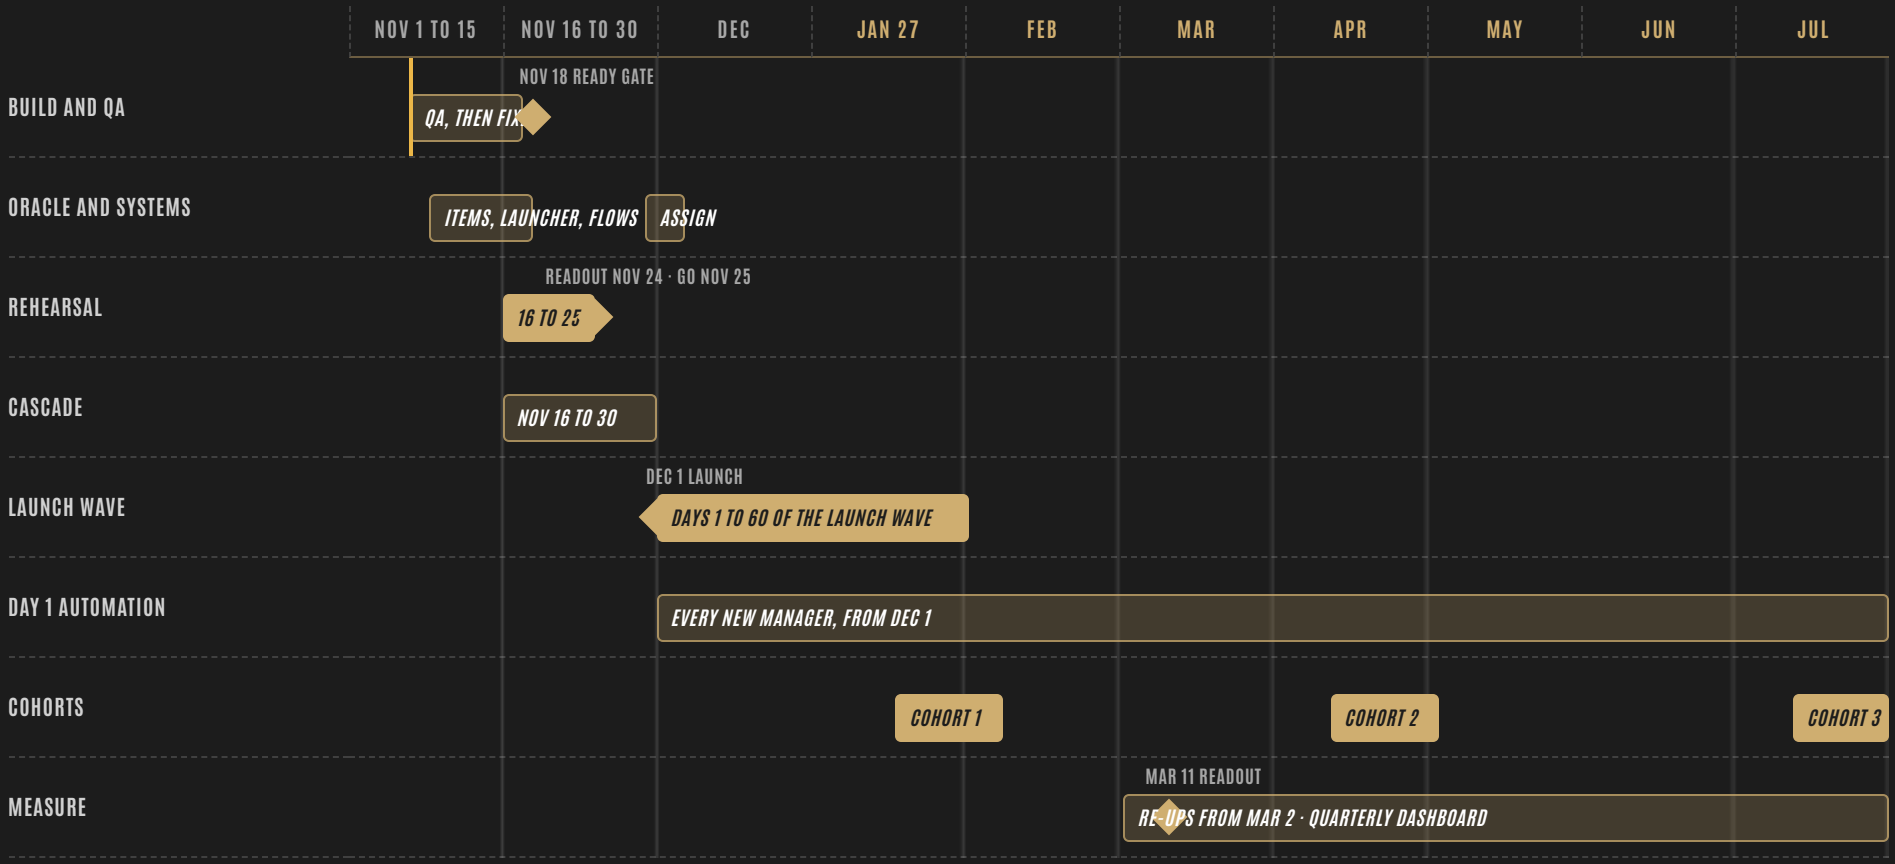

STAGE	SOURCE
Assigned, opened	Oracle Learning assignment and launch records; dashboard first open
Assessment, re-up	The assessment flow and the results dashboard (baseline and retake per manager)
Started, complete	Course completion written back to Oracle; thirteen activities and the quick check
Micro modules	Oracle Learning completions by item number
Cohort	Requests through the Portal, seats confirmed by FLH

NEW MANAGERS AFTER LAUNCH

Same funnel, higher targets, because Day 1 is real: 80 of 100 complete Foundations by day 30, 90 by day 60.

THE LAUNCH TIMELINE

November 2026 to July 2027, one line per workstream.

READY GATE · NOV 18

Course QA closed and fixed. Oracle items for Foundations and the micro modules exist. The SCORM launcher reports a test completion in Oracle. The Teams team and the assessment flows tested end to end. Rehearsal roster of fifteen confirmed.

GO, NO GO · NOV 25

Rehearsal conversion at or above half the targets on page 9. No open blocker on microphone, Oracle write-back or the dashboard. Business unit leaders briefed Nov 18; managers' managers have the note.

READOUT · MAR 11

Ninety days of the launch wave: the funnel against target, compliance on time, assessment movement for the first re-ups, cohort 1 pulse. Decision on cohort capacity for the year.

THE COMMUNICATIONS CASCADE

Every manager hears it from a person before a system.

TIER 1 · NOV 16
PCB leadership to senior leadership

What they say. Why now: the manager bench is thin and internal fill rates show it. What it is: one standard, four components, ninety days. The ask: sponsor it in your area, protect the time, name three managers for cohort 1.

HOW
Fifteen minutes on the leadership agenda, the one-page brief, this plan.

▼

TIER 2 · NOV 18
Business unit leaders to their leadership teams

What they say. This is how we will manage here. The dates for our unit. The managers' managers own the follow-through. Bespoke cohort for the largest units.

HOW
Thirty-minute briefing with FLH, the toolkit: slides, the one-page brief, the forwardable note, the FAQ.

▼

TIER 3 · NOV 20
Managers' managers to their managers

What they say. In their own words, before the launch email: it is coming on December 1, I have blocked two to three hours for you in the first two weeks, we will talk about your assessment in our 1:1. The forwardable note is written for them; the better version is the one they write.

HOW
A team meeting or a 1:1, then the forwardable note. A reminder from FLH the week of launch.

▼

TIER 4 · DEC 1
PCB leadership to every manager

What they say. You are a manager now, whatever year you started. Here is the standard, here is your dashboard, here are your dates. Open the assessment today.

HOW
The launch email, the Oracle assignment the same morning, the MyVU story, the Portal.

BESIDE THE CASCADE

HCMs and Engagement Consultants, Nov 19. A forty-minute briefing. They carry the one-line pitch, the dashboard link and the routing: a stuck manager goes to FLH, a people question stays with the manager.

Oracle Learning, from Dec 1. Assignment notices and the Day 1 email for every new manager, automatically, with a note to the manager's manager.

The Teams channel, from Nov 24. Every manager is a member before launch. Announcements mirror the cascade; Ask FLH takes the questions. Page 19.

MyVU and the PCB newsletter, Nov 24 and Dec 1. The teaser, then the story.

Compass, on every page. The course guide answers questions about the course in the course, so the launch inbox stays small.

ONE VOICE
Every tier uses the same four expectations, in the same words.

PERSON BEFORE SYSTEM
No manager's first contact is an Oracle notice.

DATES, NOT ADJECTIVES
Each message carries the dates for that reader.

ONE ASK
Each message asks for exactly one thing.

PLAIN VANDERBILT
No jargon, no exclamation marks, short sentences.

DRAFT MESSAGE C1 · MONDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 2026

To senior leadership: what we are launching on December 1.

PEOPLE, CULTURE AND BELONGING
Manager Voyage

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

FROM [Name], People, Culture and Belonging
TO Senior leadership team
SUBJECT Manager Voyage: one standard for every manager, launching December 1

We are asking every manager to manage the same way.

Our internal fill rates sit well below benchmark because the manager bench is thin, and most of our managers were never trained to manage. Manager Voyage fixes the second problem so that, over time, it fixes the first.

It is one standard, the Vanderbilt Manager Standard, in four expectations: get the work done through your team, take care of your people, make things better, and connect your team to the rest of Vanderbilt. Every manager, M1 to M5, in every location, gets the same first ninety days: compliance by location, a ninety-minute Foundations course with live practice conversations set in their own unit, short micro modules on the systems and processes they now own, a dashboard that shows where they stand, and the Portal that never goes away. After sixty days in good standing, a four-week cohort of twenty five managers a quarter builds the skill with their own teams and ends with each manager presenting a Playbook to their business unit leader.

A rehearsal with the November 5 review group and ten more managers from DAR, Facilities, VBOM, USAC, Campus Dining and VUIT runs this month. The campus launch is Tuesday, December 1.

Three things I am asking of each of you before then:

- Sponsor it in your area. Say, in your own words, that this is how we manage here. FLH will brief your leadership team on November 18.
- Protect the time. Ask your managers' managers to block two to three hours for each manager in the first two weeks of December.
- Name three managers for the first cohort, which opens January 18.

READ THE ONE-PAGE BRIEF

I will bring the first ninety days back to this group on March 11.

SUBJECT Your unit's dates for Manager Voyage, and your toolkit

Three dates for your unit.

Thank you for thirty minutes on November 18. Here is what we covered, and the toolkit.

- Friday, November 20. Your managers' managers receive the forwardable note. The ask: tell your managers yourself before December 1, block two to three hours per manager, and ask about the assessment in a 1:1 by day 14.
- Tuesday, December 1. Launch. Every manager in your unit gets the email and the Oracle assignment that morning.
- Monday, January 18. Cohort 1 opens. Send me three names by December 18. Units with thirty or more managers can run a bespoke cohort; DAR is first.

The toolkit: the one-page brief, five slides for your leadership meeting, the forwardable note, and a one-page FAQ. The My Voyage dashboard shows your managers by location once they open it; I will send your unit's view on December 15.

FORWARDABLE NOTE
From a manager's manager

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

FROM [The manager's manager]
TO [Their managers]
SUBJECT Coming December 1: Manager Voyage, and two hours I have blocked for you

You are a manager now. This is how we manage here.

On Tuesday, December 1 you will get an email from People, Culture and Belonging about Manager Voyage. I wanted you to hear it from me first.

It is one standard for every manager at Vanderbilt, in four expectations: get the work done through your team, take care of your people, make things better, connect your team to the rest of Vanderbilt. The first thing it asks of you is a five-minute self-assessment. Then a short course, about ninety minutes in all, that you can do in sittings on your phone, with practice conversations set in our unit.

I have blocked two to three hours for you between December 1 and December 11 to do it. Nothing else goes in that time. In our 1:1 in the week of December 14 I will ask what your assessment showed and which habit you picked. I am doing the same.

The course is the start. After sixty days there is a four-week cohort, and I would like you in one this year.

[Name]

NOTE The forwardable note is deliberately short, so that it reads as the manager's own words. FLH sends it on November 20 with one line at the top: "Make it yours, then send it before December 1."

This week. Open My Voyage. It is built for you: your compliance courses for [location] with their dates, the Foundations course, and who to call. Begin Module 1, the mission, in five minutes.

- By [Day 30 date]. Legal compliance courses, assigned in Oracle Learning today.
- By [Day 60 date]. Policy courses, the Foundations course (about ninety minutes in sittings), and the Systems and Vanderbilt modules: timekeeping, time off, approvals, hiring.

OPEN MY VOYAGE

[Manager's manager first name] has been asked to block two to three hours for you in your first two weeks. Your HCM, [HCM name], is the same-day call for anything about pay, time, leave or hiring. In the course, Compass answers questions on every page.

People, Culture and Belonging, Vanderbilt University. Sent because a manager assignment started for you on [date].

AUTOMATED, SAME DAY
To the manager's manager

TO [Manager's manager]
SUBJECT [First name] became a manager today. Two to three hours, please.

[First name] [Last name] started a manager assignment on your team today and has been sent their Manager Voyage: a five-minute assessment, a ninety-minute course, and compliance courses with dates.

Two things make the difference in the first month:

- Block two to three hours for them between now and [Day 14 date]. Nothing else goes in that time.
- In a 1:1 by [Day 14 date], ask what the assessment showed and which habit they picked.

Their dashboard shows their dates; yours shows your team's. Legal courses are due [Day 30 date].

DAY 7 · ONLY IF NOT STARTED

Manager Voyage

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

TO Managers with no assessment and no course activity after seven days

SUBJECT Five minutes today, [First name]

Ten statements. Five minutes.

A week ago you were sent your Manager Voyage. Nothing has been opened yet, which usually means the week was full, not that you decided against it.

The first step is the shortest. Rate ten statements about how you manage in a typical month. Your results come straight back, by expectation, with the one habit to start with.

TAKE THE ASSESSMENT

Then Module 1 of the course, the mission, is five more minutes. The whole course is about ninety, in as many sittings as you like, on your phone. Your manager has blocked time for it before [Day 14 date].

Your legal compliance courses are due [Day 30 date]. They are separate, in Oracle Learning, and your dashboard lists them.

OPEN MY VOYAGE

People, Culture and Belonging. One reminder; we will not send this twice.

DAY 22 · ONLY WITH OPEN LEGAL COURSES

Manager Voyage

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

TO Managers with a legal compliance course not yet complete

SUBJECT Eight days: [n] compliance course[s] due [Day 30 date]

Due [Day 30 date].

These legal compliance courses are still open for you in Oracle Learning. They are required for every manager in [location] and take the time shown.

OPEN THE COURSES IN ORACLE LEARNING

Everything else on your voyage runs to [Day 60 date]. If a course will not open or a completion has not recorded, reply to this email and FLH will sort it the same day.

People, Culture and Belonging, with Oracle Learning

RULES Each nudge sends once, only to the managers it applies to, and never on a day the manager has already opened the dashboard. Managers who are current get nothing. The launch wave's Day 7 is Tuesday, December 8 and its Day 22 reminder goes Monday, December 21, ahead of the winter break; the legal deadline of December 31 falls inside it, and anything still open is chased on January 4.

The completion email with the invitation, and the cohort welcome.

DAY 60 · ON COMPLETION
Manager Foundations

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY

TO Each manager, the day the course records complete in Oracle
SUBJECT You finished, [First name]. Here is your recap, and an invitation.

Every activity is done. [4] of 5 on the quick check.

This email is your recap: where you started, the one habit you chose, the week you built, and who to call. Keep it. (The recap block already exists in the completion template.)

Where you started. [28] of 50 before the course. Strongest: [connect your team]. The one to grow first: [take care of your people]. In three months you rate the same ten statements again.

The one thing you chose for this week. [Thank one person for one specific thing, by name.] Do it once, on purpose, in a meeting you already have.

Next: the four-week cohort. Twenty five managers a quarter practice the standard with their own teams: a half day in the room, two virtual weeks under ninety minutes, and a two-hour capstone where you present your Manager Playbook to [business unit leader]. The next cohort opens [date]. Your manager can nominate you, or ask for a seat yourself.

Before December 1: tell your managers yourself, block two to three hours per manager in the first two weeks, and put the day 14 question in a 1:1. Reply with how you plan to do it; the best versions get shared. Cohort nominations, three names per unit, by December 18.

RULE Every Teams post repeats a dated message or precedes nothing. A manager who reads only email misses nothing; a manager who lives in Teams gets the same plan in the same words.

THE ASSESSMENT DATA SETUP

From ten statements to a report, without a person copying anything.

Taken before the course, reviewed in it, retaken three months after completion. Every record goes through one Power Automate flow into one SharePoint list, and from there to the manager's inbox, the results dashboard and the quarterly report.

1 · TAKE

Ten statements, five minutes

In the course site, from the launch email, the Day 1 email, the dashboard or the Teams tab. Name and Vanderbilt email on the form.

2 · POST

One record, one URL

The site posts a JSON record: name, email, date, ten answers, total of 50, four expectation averages, feedback lines, the first move, the finished email.

3 · FLOW 1

Record and email

Power Automate, HTTP trigger. Checks the shared key, stores the record, sends the results email from the PCB mailbox, with the optional AI-written note.

4 · THE LIST

Manager Voyage assessments

SharePoint, one row per record: phase initial or retake, scores, the four averages, answers, first move, completed on, retake invited on.

5 · THE MANAGER

Results in the inbox

Score, the four expectations with bands, the habit to start with, courses in Oracle Learning. The course shows the same page. Only the manager sees it.

THREE MONTHS ON

6 · COMPLETE

Course done

The completion record updates the row with the date and the quick check score. The ninety-day clock starts here.

7 · FLOW 2

Daily, 8:00 Central

Finds rows completed ninety or more days ago with no invitation, sends the re-up email, stamps the date.

8 · RETAKE

The same ten, beside the baseline

At the reassessment page. The record carries the starting point, so the email shows what moved. A total under 25 routes back through Foundations.

9 · DASHBOARD

Results, encrypted

The list export, encrypted, published on the site. FLH opens it with the team passphrase. Baselines, completions, re-ups, movement, the ten statements.

10 · REPORT

Aggregates only

Weekly funnel during launch, the March 11 readout, quarterly by business unit to its leader. Never a named row outside FLH.

BUILT

The site, the record format, both flows and the encrypted dashboard exist and have run on real records. Flow 1's URL is live in the site configuration.

TO FINISH BEFORE THE REHEARSAL

The sender mailbox and subject line for the results email, the shared key check at the top of Flow 1, two new list columns (business unit, location) from the profile feed, and the AI note decision.

TO DECIDE

Retention of named records, who holds the dashboard passphrase, and the smallest group size for a unit report. Proposals on the next page.

A self-reflection tool. Named to the manager, aggregate to everyone else.

THE RECORD, ONE ROW PER ASSESSMENT

FIELD	WHAT IT HOLDS	FROM
Title, Email	Name and Vanderbilt email; the key that joins baseline, completion and retake	The form
Phase, TakenOn	initial or retake, and the date	The site
Score, Max	Total of the ten items, out of 50	Computed on the site
Four expectation averages	Get the work done, take care of your people, make things better, connect your team, 1.0 to 5.0	Computed on the site
Answers	The ten items, 1 to 5 with the label, as text	The form
FirstMove	The habit the results pointed to	Computed on the site
CompletedOn, QuizScore	Course completion date and the quick check score	Flow 1, completion case
PriorScore, RetakeInvitedOn	The baseline total on a retake row; the day Flow 2 sent the invitation	The site, Flow 2
BusinessUnit, Location NEW	For unit and location aggregates; filled from the profile feed, never typed	Profile feed
Rehearsal NEW	Yes for November records, so they can be shown or excluded	Flow 1, by date

Bands on the mean item score: Building 1.0 to 2.5, Practicing 2.6 to 3.8, Consistent 3.9 to 5.0. Real movement at the retake: five or more points on the total, 0.7 or more on an expectation.

WHO SEES WHAT

WHO	SEES	HOW
The manager	Their own results, baseline and retake, with the feedback	Results email, the course, the reassessment page
The manager's manager	Nothing numeric. They ask; the manager chooses what to share	The day 14 1:1
FLH, two named people	The list and the named dashboard	SharePoint permissions; the dashboard passphrase
Business unit leaders	Their unit's aggregates, only when ten or more managers have taken it	Quarterly report
PCB and senior leadership	Program totals, movement, the funnel	Weekly during launch, March 11, quarterly

RULES, PROPOSED FOR NOVEMBER 25

- Purpose. Self-reflection and program measurement. Never a performance evaluation, never in a personnel file, never a factor in pay or promotion. Said on the form, in the results email and in every report.
- Retention. Named rows kept for twenty four months after the last record for that manager, then the name and email removed and the row kept as an aggregate.
- Access. The SharePoint list is restricted to the two FLH owners and the flow's service account. The dashboard passphrase changes each quarter and at any staff change. Test records are excluded by email at every refresh.
- Security. The flow accepts only records carrying the shared key; the dashboard holds no plain data; emails go from the PCB mailbox only.
- Smallest group. No aggregate is reported for fewer than ten managers.

Ready by November 18, trusted by every manager who takes it.

SETUP CHECKLIST

TASK	WHO	BY
Confirm the sender mailbox and subject line of the results email; fill them into the site configuration so the course can tell managers what to search for	PCB comms, FLH	NOV 13

Add the shared key to the site configuration and the check at the top of Flow 1	FLH	NOV 17

Decide the AI-written note: on, with the paragraph reviewed on fifteen rehearsal emails, or off	PCB, FLH	NOV 25
Schedule Flow 2 and test it against a row with a backdated completion	FLH	NOV 18
Name the two FLH owners, set the dashboard passphrase, run one refresh end to end	FLH	NOV 18
Adopt the retention, access and smallest-group rules	PCB leadership	NOV 25
Flag the rehearsal rows; refresh the dashboard the first Monday of every month, weekly during December and January	FLH	NOV 30, THEN ONGOING
First unit aggregates to business unit leaders	FLH	MAR 11

WHAT MANAGERS ARE TOLD, AND WHEN

WHEN	MESSAGE
LAUNCH AND DAY 1 EMAIL	Five minutes, ten statements, no wrong result; your results come straight back and only you see them.
ON THE FORM	One line above the stem: "Your answers go to you. People, Culture and Belonging reports only group totals, never a name. This is not a performance evaluation."
RESULTS EMAIL, SAME MINUTE	Score, the four expectations, the habit to start with, and the note that the same ten come back in three months.
DAY 14, THE 1:1	Managers' managers are told: ask, do not request the number. The manager decides what to share.
DAY 60, COMPLETION EMAIL	"Where you started" repeated, so the baseline is in hand when the re-up arrives.
+3 MONTHS	The existing invitation: rate the same ten again, see what moved, beside your starting point.
QUARTERLY, TO UNITS	Aggregates with the group size shown, the bands, and movement; no names, nothing under ten managers.

> Answer for how you work now, not how you want to. There is no wrong result; the point is to see which habits took hold and which one to work on next.

From the reassessment invitation, which every data message keeps to.

ENROLLMENT

How a manager gets in, and what Oracle does on its own.

THE LAUNCH WAVE, DECEMBER 1

1. The population.
   Every active worker with a manager assignment in Oracle HCM on November 27, by location and business unit. FLH confirms the list with HCMs the week of November 23.
2. Bulk assignment, the morning of December 1.
   Foundations and the phase one micro modules assigned in Oracle Learning with due dates of Feb 1. Compliance assignments stay as they are; most are current.
3. The launch email, 7:30 am.
   Dashboard link, assessment link, the dates. The Oracle assignment notice follows at 8:00 so the email is read first.
4. The dashboard.
   My Voyage reads the manager's name, location and completions from Oracle through the profile feed, and shows each row as Verified in Oracle, Complete, Opened or Not started.
5. Completion write-back.
   The Foundations course records its completion and quick check score in Oracle Learning. Inside Oracle, through the SCORM launcher; on the web, through the completion flow.

EVERY NEW MANAGER, FROM DECEMBER 1

1. Trigger.
   A manager assignment starts in Oracle HCM. The profile feed carries the start date and location.
2. Day 1.
   Compliance assigned by location with deadlines from the start date. Foundations and phase one modules assigned, due day 60. The Day 1 email and the note to the manager's manager go the same day.
3. Days 7, 22 and 60.
   The nudges, each sent once and only where it applies.
4. Day 60 in good standing.
   Compliance complete, Foundations complete. The invitation to the cohort goes with the completion email; the Portal request form takes the seat request.

THE RULES

- Legal compliance by day 30, policy by day 60. Oracle enforces it; the dashboard shows it.
- Foundations is strongly encouraged and tracked, not a condition of the role. It is a condition of the cohort.
- Twenty five seats a quarter, nominated by the manager's manager or requested by the manager. Units of thirty or more managers can run a bespoke cohort.
- An Oracle completion always outranks a self-reported one.

Open decision for November 25: whether Foundations is delivered inside Oracle Learning through the SCORM launcher (one package that frames the live site, completion recorded in Oracle) or on the web with the completion flow. Both paths are built for; the launcher is the recommended path and keeps every fix live without a re-upload.

DELIVERY

Self-paced on the web, cohorts on the calendar, support on every page.

Learning Lab in SparkWise, small group	Your own time	40 to 45 min
Simulation lab, a live voice conversation	On your phone	10 min
Playbook, one section	Due Sunday	5 min

WHAT IT TAKES TO RUN

- Facilitation. Two FLH facilitators per cohort; the business unit leader in the room for the capstone. One room for a half day and two hours per cohort.
- Platforms. Oracle Learning for the core modules and completions. SparkWise for the labs. The cohort site for the Playbook and the pulse. ElevenLabs characters for the simulations, inside the course and the cohort site.
- Capacity. Twenty five managers a cohort, four open cohorts and one bespoke cohort in 2027: about one hundred and twenty five managers through the cohort in the first year. The March 11 readout decides whether to add a fourth facilitator pair.

SUPPORT ON EVERY PAGE

- Compass, the course guide, answers questions about the course and its content inside the course, text only, any hour.
- The Portal holds who to call: HCM, Engagement Consultant, Employee Relations, EOA, Title IX, Leave, the Hotline, with same-day routes marked.
- FLH inbox for anything the course cannot answer: a course that will not open, a completion that did not record. Same-day reply during launch.

ACCESSIBILITY AND REACH

- The course runs on a phone, with narration on every page and a written path for every live conversation, for rooms without microphones.
- Every practice conversation can be set in the manager's own world: a business office, Campus Dining, VUIT, Academic Affairs, Student Affairs, Facilities, DAR.

November: fifteen managers take the first thirty days in eight days.

WHO

The roster

The November 5 review group, Jennifer Bennett, Stacey Crowhurst, Jeremy Bourgoin, Kylie Ross, Kristen Conoley and Doug Hunter, and ten managers they name from DAR, Facilities, VBOM, USAC, Campus Dining and VUIT, with at least four managers of hourly teams. Their managers' managers are in it too; they get the forwardable note on November 13.

WHAT

The whole first thirty days

The assessment, the Foundations course inside Oracle through the launcher, the phase one micro modules, the Day 1, Day 7 and Day 22 messages on a compressed clock, and the dashboard. Five rehearsal managers also do the cohort's week 0.

WHEN

Nov 16 to Nov 25

Opens Monday, November 16. Fifteen-minute check-ins Friday, November 20. Readout Tuesday, November 24. Launch go, no go Wednesday, November 25, the day before Thanksgiving.

WHAT WE MEASURE

MEASURE	EXIT BAR FOR LAUNCH
Opened the dashboard within 2 days	12 of 15
Assessment taken	12 of 15
Foundations complete within 8 days	9 of 15
Completion recorded in Oracle without help	Every completion
Live conversation started on the first try	4 of 5 who tried, microphone and written path counted
Time on the course, self-reported	Median under 100 minutes
"I know what is expected of me as a manager here"	4 of 5 agree, in the rehearsal survey

WHAT WE FIX BEFORE LAUNCH

- Anything that stops a completion reaching Oracle.
- Any page where the rehearsal managers did not know where to click. The November 5 feedback already drove the one-idea-per-screen rebuild; the rehearsal confirms it.
- The two to three hour protected time ask: did the managers' managers do it, and did it hold.
- Message wording: every draft on pages 13 to 18 is tested on the rehearsal and rewritten from what they said.
- Anything not fixed by November 25 ships in the Day 7 wave rather than moving the launch.

WHAT THE REHEARSAL DOES NOT TEST

- The cascade itself. Leaders are briefed on November 16 while it runs, and get the readout on November 25.
- Cohort weeks 1 to 4. Cohort 1 on January 18 is the first run, with the rehearsal managers in it.

MEASUREMENT

What we report, to whom, and when.

CADENCE

- Weekly during launch, December 1 to January 29: the funnel to FLH and PCB leadership, one page.
- March 11: the ninety-day readout to senior leadership.
- Quarterly: the results dashboard by business unit, to business unit leaders.
- Yearly: fill rate and attrition beside the program numbers.

The assessment is a self-reflection tool, not a validated instrument, and never a performance evaluation. Movement is reported in aggregate; a manager's own results go only to that manager. The business measures, internal fill, promotions into manager roles, time to fill and retention, are on the scorecard that follows.

WHAT SUCCESS LOOKS LIKE

Success, measured at three levels: learning, behavior, and the business.

More manager roles filled from inside, more staff promoted into their first manager role, more of them still here a year on. Baselines come from Oracle before November 25; targets are proposals for that meeting.

MEASURE	BASELINE	YEAR ONE TARGET	YEAR TWO TARGET	SOURCE	CADENCE
BUSINESS: THE MANAGER BENCH
Internal fill rate for manager roles, the share of manager openings filled by a Vanderbilt staff member	FY26 rate, pulled by Nov 25	+10 POINTS	AT THE BENCHMARK	Oracle Recruiting	Quarterly
Promotions into a first manager role, staff promoted into M1 in the year	FY26 count, pulled by Nov 25	+15 PERCENT	+30 PERCENT	Oracle HCM	Yearly

BEHAVIOR: THE STANDARD IN A NORMAL WEEK
Assessment movement, five or more points on the total at the three-month re-up	Set by the first re-ups, March 2027	40 OF 100 RE-UPS	50 OF 100	Results dashboard	Quarterly
Priority expectation moved by 0.7 or more	Set by the first re-ups	50 OF 100 RE-UPS	60 OF 100	Results dashboard	Quarterly

Cohort seats filled and Playbooks presented	None; the cohort is new	100 MANAGERS	CAPACITY SET MARCH 11	FLH roster	Each cohort

Each business number is read beside the same number for managers who have not yet completed Foundations, with group sizes. One quarter is a signal; three are a trend.

WHAT SUCCESS LOOKS LIKE, IN WORDS

At ninety days, one year, and three.

NINETY DAYS · MARCH 2027

The program ran, and managers felt it

Every manager has heard it from a person and has a dashboard with their dates. Legal compliance is on time everywhere. More than half the launch wave has finished Foundations and taken the assessment; new managers finish in their first month. Cohort 1 has presented twenty five Playbooks to their leaders. The first re-ups show the priority habit moving. HCMs say the same-day questions are the right ones.

ONE YEAR · DECEMBER 2027

The standard is how we manage here

A hundred managers have been through a cohort and their teams have goals, one to ones and feedback the week it happened. Assessment movement is real for four in ten re-ups. Internal fill for manager roles is up ten points and manager roles fill faster. New managers are still here a year on, nine in ten or better. The Portal is the place managers go first. Business unit leaders see their own unit's numbers each quarter.

THREE YEARS · 2029

The bench is deep

Manager roles are filled from inside at the benchmark or above, because staff have seen what a trained manager looks like and want the job. A third of cohort graduates have been promoted or given more scope. Teams led by trained managers keep their people. The standard is in job descriptions, in the hiring interview, and in the first conversation a new manager's manager has with them. Manager Voyage is simply what happens when someone becomes a manager at Vanderbilt.

WHAT WE WILL STOP SEEING

- A new manager learning about FMLA from the mistake, not the module.
- A director's request answered with a yes that slips, instead of hours, the conflict and two options.
- Feedback saved for the review. The why arriving after the announcement.
- A strong team member leaving because nobody said what they owned or thanked them by name.
- Manager roles going outside because nobody inside was ready.

HOW THE NUMBERS ARE READ

- Leading before lagging. Completion and movement show in months; fill rate and retention in years. The March 11 readout reports the first; the yearly readout reports the second.
- Beside a comparison. Every business number is shown for managers who completed Foundations and for those who have not yet, over the same period, with group sizes.
- In aggregate. Never a named manager outside FLH; no group under ten.
- Reported where decisions are made. Weekly during launch to FLH and PCB; March 11 to senior leadership; quarterly to business unit leaders; yearly with the people numbers.

Who owns what, and what could go wrong.

RISKS AND WHAT WE DO ABOUT THEM

RISK	MITIGATION
Budget season, Thanksgiving and the winter break thin the November cascade and the first month.	Briefings are thirty minutes, toolkits do the rest, C3 can go from FLH on a leader's behalf, and the Day 22 reminder goes before the break.
Twenty five days from decision to launch.	The systems, the flows and the drafts exist; the rehearsal is the test; anything not ready by November 25 ships in the Day 7 wave rather than moving the launch.
Managers hear it from Oracle first.	The assignment notice is sent thirty minutes after the launch email; managers' managers are reminded the week before.
Microphone blocked inside Oracle.	Tested at the November 18 ready gate. The written path and open in a new window cover it.
Completion not recorded.	The launcher writes to Oracle; the web path writes through the completion flow; FLH checks the daily exceptions list during launch.
"Thirty-five minutes" felt dishonest in November.	Every message says about ninety minutes in sittings, the essentials in thirty-five.
Experienced managers opt out.	The assessment first, the cohort as the reward, and the business unit leader saying it in their own words.
Cohort demand above seats.	Waitlist by completion date; bespoke cohorts for units of thirty or more; capacity decision March 11.

THE NEXT TWENTY FIVE DAYS

Decisions and dates between now and the launch go.
